

Soil Health Academy

Presents

Regenerative Farming and Ranching

Soil Health Academy Owners and Instructors

Dr. Allen Williams Gabe Brown Ray Archuleta David Brandt

A course developed by the Soil Health Academy to Inspire, Teach, and Mentor future leaders on how to regenerate soils in farm and ranch ecosystems by mimicking intelligent design innate in natural systems reducing dependency on man-centric programs, institutions, and costly chemical inputs.

Where:

SEI Agra Tech, Inc

1400 South Randall Ave
Elk City, OK 73644

When:

October 24-26, 2017

3 Full Days

Topics Covered:

- Soil Function
 - ✓ Learn how to use soil indicators and field assessment tools
- Manage Cropping Systems
 - ✓ Designing and implementing multi-species, polycropping
 - ✓ Planter settings
 - ✓ Rotational diversity
 - ✓ Cover Crop/Livestock Integration
 - ✓ Implement integrated pest management techniques
 - ✓ Nutrient management strategies
- Adaptive Grazing
 - ✓ Fencing and watering design
 - ✓ Proper grazing and stocking techniques
 - ✓ Recover times
- Stacked Enterprise Systems
- Successful Marketing

Cost: $1,275 per person includes:
- Educational material in digital format
- One ecocentric meal per day
Hotel and transportation provided by participant

Limit: Class size limited to 50 participants (first come, first served)

Contact: For additional information please contact Ken Hardie, Chief Operating Officer at 417-933-2249 or email: learn@soilhealthacademy.org

Mail Checks to: Soil Health Academy, 2351 Severs Rd, Seymour, MO 65746